

Celebrity Baby Clothes

Find Of The Week:Baby Planet Strollers

April 27th, 2007

Finding the perfect double stroller is a tough job. We have searched high and low and have found one that makes us dance. BABY PLANET is a fabulous company that not only makes slick looking rides, but it gives back by recycling your stroller once you and your brood are done with it. If the stroller can handle some more mileage, BABY PLANET will buff it up and fine tune it and donate it. If on the other hand, you rode your stroller into the ground, they will recycle all the parts and keep Mother Earth happy. That fact could have hooked me alone, but BABY PLANET'S UNITY DOUBLE STROLLER is also an urban mummies best friend. Fresh colors, modern look and the easiest steering handle we have ever had the pleasure of using. Don't worry, there's tons of room in the basket underneath for all your gear from Kitson and Lisa Kline. This stroller was designed by people who know what moms need and want. We've got to have style, comfort and a big basket to carry all our treats. Show the Planet some love and visit www.baby-planet.com

Baby Planet Unity Sport Stroller Red Tech

Baby Universe also sells the cool ride.